Impressions of "Tent City"

Assemblyman Floyd Mori visited the Vietnamese refugee camp at Camp Pendleton Wednesday to see first - hand how the 18,600 immigrants are faring and to find out what more could be done to ease their plight. The assemblyman (who is shown at right with a group of children) spent nearly six hours at the camp. He was the first state legislator to visit "Tent City" and will probably make a report to the legislature on his findings. Watch Sunday's Times for an in-depth story and more photos.

Stuck with land, citizen calls county decision un-American

Alameda County Bureau

A bitter and vituperative Chester Anderson, Jr. chastised the Alameda County Board of Supervisors yesterday in Oakland and called their continuance of his rezoning appeal "un-American."

Anderson, who owns 57 acres just outside Livermore near the intersection of Portola Ave. and N. P Street, was trying to get five acres rezoned from agricultural to commercial. The Alameda County Planning Department staff revommended that his request be denied but the Planning Commission gave its approval.

"I've been trying to do something for 12 years. I want a chance to do something with this land" said an unhappy Anderson. Anderson has tried to work a poultry farm, dig gravel, set up a mobile home park and set up an industrial park before this request and all have been denied or not approved.

The supervisors continued Anderson's request until July 10 after John Murphy withdrew his second of Fred Cooper's motion to deny the appeal. The supervisors felt that since the area was clearly in Livermore's sphere of influence (as decided by the Local Agency Formation Commission), the decision on the eventual zoning should come from Livermore.

Helen Tirsell of the Livermore City Council said that the area is under review as Livermore is amending its General Plan. That revised plan is expected to be implemented by the first of the year, according to Tirsell, and then Anderson's zoning request can be dealt with.

"We're forced to sell a piece of property in order to survive" commented Anderson. "All I'm asking for is a chance to do something with the land."

Anderson said that he and his family have been paying taxes on the land for 78 years to the county and that the county should make the decision, not the city of Livermore.

"Livermore's sphere of influence shouldn't extend beyond the city limits" Anderson said and added he never wanted to be annexed to the city and its present form of government.

Despite Cooper's objection that nothing will have changed by July, Charles Santana indicated that he would "feel more comfortable" about making a decision at that time.

According to the LAFCO decision, Livermore has the right to determine the zoning of Anderson's land.

Tirsell added that Livermore was afraid that unacceptable development would occur if the land was rezoned commercial.

Four other rezoning items in the valley were approved by the supervisors in less than 45 seconds. All involved the rezoning of land to agricultural or to agricultural preserves.

One hundred and thirty three acres near Castlewood, 81 acres on Wente Street, 132 acres on First Street and 9.99 acres on Corral Hollow Creek all were changed without discussion.

The supervisors spent some time discussing a variance to allow sheep, geese and chickens in an area near Hayward. After much discussion (and some cries of "fowl play"), the variance was granted.

Commission denies Spivak zone plea

PLEASANTON - Spivak Properties unsuccessfully attempted to gain approval for office zoning before the planning commission Wednesday night, although a host of other uses and design plans received the go-ahead.

The company had applied for a General Plan Amendment for rezoning from high density residential to retail business and offices for a five-acre parcel located east of Hopyard and northeast of the First National Bank drive-in facility.

The commission denied the request because they believed the city has plenty of office space and because, approving office zoning in that location, could be detrimental to the downtown area.

The commission approved Casa Verde's application for a conditional use permit to remove the time restriction for the existing nursery and to allow expansion of that facility, which is located at 5511 Sunol Blvd.

The Design Review Board approved architectural plans for the proposed new U.S. Post Office at the corner of Santa Rita Road and Black Avenue, for an addition to the Chamber of Commerce's octagon facility at 10 West Neal St., for Frank Auf der Maur's 21-unit apartment complex at 847 Rose Ave., for the latest addition to the Cedarwood Medical Center and for a Chris Beratlis' proposed commercial building at 435 Main St.

In other action, the planning commission: approved an application for Lynnewood United Methodist Church for continued operation of a 72-student nursery school at 4444 Black Ave.; approved a General Plan Amendment which will change the zoning of 19 acres at the southeast corner of Bernal Avenue and Foothill Road to medium density residential.

The commission also continued consideration of the proposed hillside development ordinance until the June meeting

Newly appointed Commission Dave Shepherd sat with the commission Wednesday night but abstained from the voting.

Curbside mailbox talk set

PLEASANTON - Members of the city council will sit down with representatives of the U.S. Post Office Monday night to discuss the curbside mailbox edict.

Pleasanton officials have vehemently opposed the post office's policy to require curbside mailboxes in all new subdivisions and, at present, there is an ordinance on the books that prohibits citizens from erecting curbside mail boxes.

Consequently, Pleasantonites living in some of the city's newer areas get no home mail delivery at all and must drive to the post office for their mail.

When the council visited Washington D.C. in March of this year, they asked the postal service to send a representative to a local meeting to discuss the rationale for the curbside edict.

Monday's meeting is the result of that request. The session will begin at 8 p.m. Monday in the Pleasanton Justice Court.

Prior to the public session, the council will hold a closed executive session dealing with labor negotiations.

But combine 'most willing' to sell

Mission Park center ruling surprises owner

The man who helped put together the combine that purchased the Mission Park area on Pleasanton's south side nine years ago, was "really surprised" to learn on Thursday that Alameda County may buy 53 acres of that property for a county administration center to serve this valley.

In fact, D.A. "Bud" Eschelbach revealed, he got that information "from a report I saw in The Times."

If Eschelbach speaks for the other five owners of that property, then they will be "most willing" to sell the Sunol Boulevard land to the county. "It's been quite a problem," Eschelbach said of that troubled Mission Park development.

Launched a dozen years ago by William Jacobsen, the dream of lovely homes, school, light industry and shopping center gradually disintegrated following Jacobsen's death in 1966.

A group of investors including Eschelbach, Denise Thibault, Livermore real estate broker, the Brentwood Market and "a number of San Francisco doctors" acquired the remaining vacant parcels from the Jacobsen estate. Much of the single family home area was later developed by Costanzo-Wilson. Still available is the ten-acre commercial site, plus some 40 acres set aside for apartments, a church and light industry.

Then there is that 53-acre parcel atop the hill.

"I would really like to sell it," says Eschelbach, who acknowledges that "property around here isn't moving that well these days." Another Eschelbach property due for early sale is the site of the Berry Farm Swimming Pool, a public facility on Stanley Boulevard that "Kent Hart of Pleasanton wants to develop into a commercial condominium — allowing the tenants to buy in."

Main Street soon to be smooth

PLEASANTON - Main Street is due for a complete resurfacing, and it's the first time in recent memory that the big job has been undertaken.

City Hall expects to call for bids "very soon" and "hopes" the resurfacing can be undertaken "to assure completion before the County Fair Parade." That big trek through the downtown area is scheduled for June 29.

There is also a question as to just how far the resurfacing project will extend. "We only have $40,000 budgeted," explains Don Sooby, the city's senior engineer, "and if that won't cover the entire length of Main Street, we might have to stop short."

Other major street jobs planned by the city crews this summer include sidewalk, curb and gutter on the west side of Santa Rita Road, from the high school to the Amador Center.

The roller-coaster ride over the St. Mary Street crossing at the Western Pacific tracks will be eliminated this year, "providing the WP co-operates in the removal of one set of tracks."

And the bottleneck at Spring and First Streets should be eased somewhat with "improvement" of that entrance into the Pleasant Plaza Shopping Center and widening along the north side of Spring from the railroad crossing to First Street.

All of these projects are financed by the city's share of State Gas Tax funds.

Teachers gather Tuesday

Murray settlement deadline won't be met

Teachers in the Murray Elementary School District will gather for their long-scheduled mass meeting May 20 with no settlement in sight with the district on salary and the number of working days.

The mass meeting was originally set up as a deadline for negotiations between the district and the Certificated Employes' Council (CEC), which represents the teachers, but the teachers and district have reached agreement on no substantive issues in three months of off-and-on negotiations.

Rich Pyper of the CEC indicated that the teachers had asked for more meet-and-confer sessions with the district between now and the Tuesday mass meeting but the district negotiating team was unable to get together by then.

The teahers held a mass meeting in June of 1974 and voted to authorize a strike in the fall if their terms were not met. Only 48 hours before school was to begin, an agreement was reached and the first teacher strike in valley history was averted.

"It's impossible to say what's going to happen at the meeting" said Joyce Spreyer of the Murray Teacher Association(MTA), the largest teacher group in MESD. Don Leege, MTA president, said that the teachers will be informed of all their options at the Tuesday afternoon gathering.

Those options include accepting the present district offer of a 4 per cent salary boost and a 182 day calendar as opposed to teacher requests for a 12 per cent salary raise and a 177 day calendar. They also include an immediate strike, and all maneuvers inbetween.

The district has indicated that its offers are final and in fact the board will unilaterally ratify the calendar regardless of the feelings of the teachers.

The district negotiators have tied the teacher salaries to the salaries of the administrators and the classified employes in MESD, since traditionally all groups have received the same pay boosts. Using that criterion, each per cent of raise costs the district $50,000.

The teachers claim that the district should only consider the teacher requests, and that amounts to $37,000 for each per cent of raise.

Pyper has calculated, using district figures, that MESD will have some $1 million more to spend in the 1975-76 school year than it did in the 1974-75 school year, which is approximately a 14 per cent increase.

If the teachers received an 8 per cent raise (a figure that has been bandied about on an unofficial level), it would eat up all but $384,149 of the extra funds. That money would have to deal with the inflation that the district had to absorb over the last year.

A member of the California Teacher's Association appeared at a negotiation session and stated that, as a general rule, teacher salaries should take up at least the same percentage of a district budget from year to year.

In MESD, that figure equalled 87½ per cent in 1974-75, and if it was maintained, that would total a 4.5 per cent raise in 1975-76.

Teachers have already received 5.2 per cent raises, which will go into effect in July, as a result of their acceptance of only 3 per cent last fall. A contingency clause was written in the contract that said if funds became available the district would make up 5.2 per cent salary increases without negotiation this year. That increase would not include salary adjustments for 1975-76, which would be negotiated separately.

The teachers also receive step and column increases that average approximately 4.5 per cent.

MESD's basic offer was for 3 per cent for the coming school year, despite passage of a revenue limit increase election in March that teachers claim gave the district money to spend on raises. However, Associate Superintendent Bill Crozier stated that the district would offer 4 per cent if teachers realized that program and personnel cuts would then be necessary in 1976-77 unless further monies were forthcoming.

The extra per cent would come in cuts in maintenance and grounds keeping, which Crozier termed a "false economy" since the work has to be done eventually.

The teachers' mass meeting at 3:45 p.m. in Shannon Community Center is expected to be a riotous affair and no meet-and-confer sessions have been scheduled after that pending the outcome.

The teachers set the May 20 deadline earlier this year, feeling that they should be able to go off to summer vacation knowing how much money they would be making in the fall. They also felt that the district would know exactly how much money they had after the tax increase election in March and so early settlement would be much easier than in the past.

State officials took water snail samples Thursday morning in an attempt to isolate the cause of "swimmers' itch."

Plagued park's snails examined by officials

PLEASANTON — State and county health officials Thursday morning took sample water snails from Shadow Cliffs lake in an attempt to isolate the cause of the reported "swimmers' itch" plaguing bathers who used the facility earlier this week.

Dr. Robert Lane of the California Health Department toured the park's beaches before venturing out with a park ranger to pick snails from underwater weeds.

The schistosome dermatitis (swimmers' itch) is caused by a .5 mm parasite that burrows its way into the human skin looking for a host organism, according to Lane.

"Humans can't host the almost microscopic organism and it dies immediately.That produces the rash."

"They're simply not compatible with man," added Alameda County Health Department representative Dr. Wilson Sampson.

The parasites are "an immature stage of blood flukes," Lane continued, "which normally occur in ducks and certain species of shore birds. It could be the coots (out there on the lake) or it's very likely migrating birds."

The bacteria is released in the water in bird feces, then devoured by water snails. The snails act as hosts and produce the parasites.

When conditions are just right the snails release the parasites which then search for another host.

The contamination is eliminated by wiping out the snails that must act as intermediaries between bird and man.

Park officials will put small amounts of copper sulfate into the water to kill the snails and the already existing parasites.

The treatment should take two to five days, according to Lane, and will start as soon as test results confirm the doctors' theory.

Water samples taken Tuesday by county officials should be back by Monday, and the snail tests should be ready Friday.

The copper sulfate will be distributed in the immediate swimming area either by dragging it in a gunny sack or by spreading it through a boat's propeller wash.

The chemicals will be distributed "very carefully," according to EBRPD spokesmanEd Howell, to avoid killing fish.

The right combination of water fowl, snails and water temperature produces the phenomenon,Sampson said, adding it occured in Sierra lakes several years ago and pops up occassionally in farm ponds.

A similar itch was reported in Shadow Cliffs three years ago, but officials suspect an allergic reaction to weeds rather than the parasitic bacteria.

The possibility of water mites causing the rash, suggested by one Valley physicianwas discounted by Lane who said he "never heard of water mites causing this kind of rash."

EBRPD directors closed the park Tuesday afternoon by order of the Alameda County Health Department after attempts to keep people out of the water failed.

Doctors called health officials Tuesday to report several cases of severe rash by persons — mainly children — using the lake.

Health officials first tried closing the swimming area, but some bathers refused to heed the posted contaminated water warnings and harassed life guards who ordered them out.

The entire park willbe closed until the treatment is complete.— by Ron Rodriguez

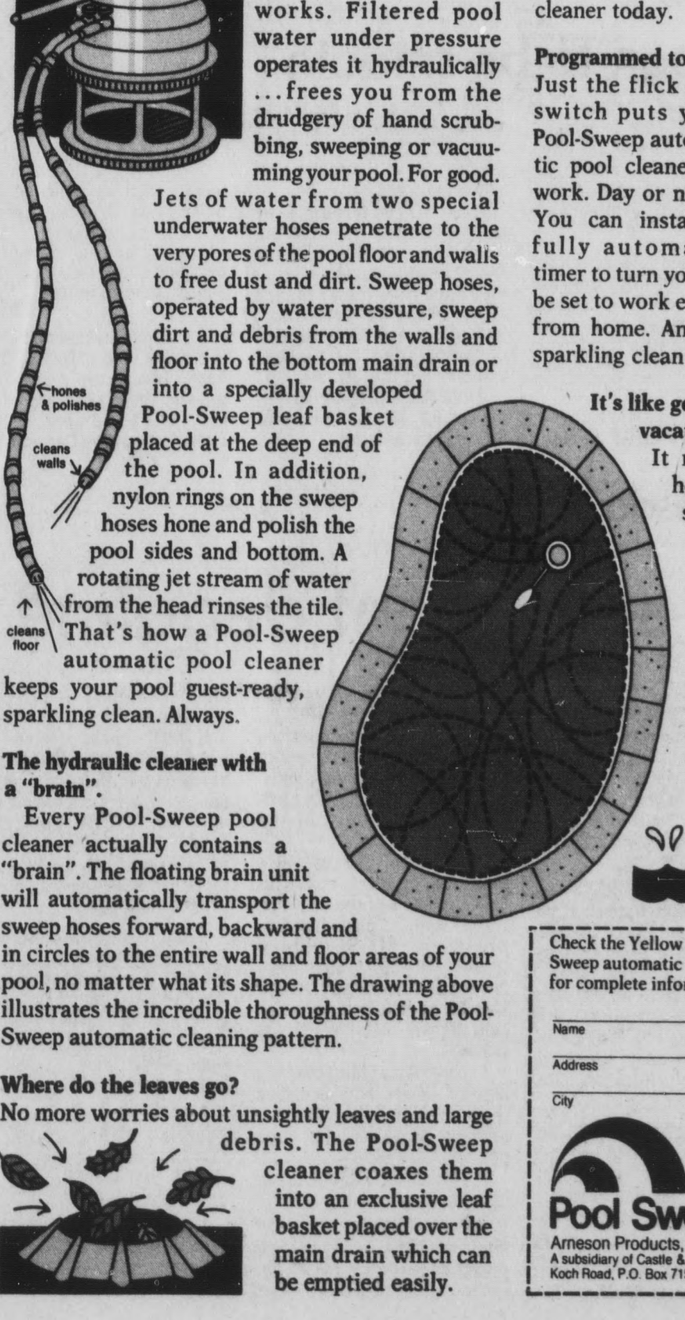
There's something miraculous about the way a Pool-Sweep® automatic pool cleaner cleans. And cleans.

Keeps your swimming pool sparkling clean 4 ways. It's like magic the way a Pool-Sweep® automatic pool cleaner quietly works and works to keep the floor, walls and surface of your pool sparkling clean. Completely automatically. The Pool-Sweep pool cleaner is an ingenious invention manufactured exclusively by Arneson Products, Inc.



And it's remarkable how simply a Pool-Sweep automatic pool cleaner works. Filtered pool water under pressure operates it hydraulically ...frees you from the drudgery of hand scrubbing, sweeping or vacuuming your pool. For good. Jets of water from two special underwater hoses penetrate to the very pores of the pool floor and walls to free dust and dirt. Sweep hoses, operated by water pressure, sweep dirt and debris from the walls and floor into the bottom main drain or into a specially developed Pool-Sweep leaf basket placed at the deep end of the pool. In addition, nylon rings on the sweep hoses hone and polish the pool sides and bottom. A rotating jet stream of water from the head rinses the tile. That's how a Pool-Sweep automatic pool cleaner keeps your pool guest-ready, sparkling clean. Always.

The hydraulic cleaner with a "brain".
Every Pool-Sweep pool cleaner actually contains a "brain". The floating brain unit will automatically transport the sweep hoses forward, backward and in circles to the entire wall and floor areas of your pool, no matter what its shape. The drawing above illustrates the incredible thoroughness of the Pool-Sweep automatic cleaning pattern.

Where do the leaves go?
No more worries about unsightly leaves and large debris. The Pool-Sweep cleaner coaxes them into an exclusive leaf basket placed over the main drain which can be emptied easily.

Pennies per day.
That's all it takes to keep a Pool-Sweep automatic pool cleaner cleaning and cleaning, year after year. It's like installing a dishwasher. Once it's in, you wouldn't be without it. And for the few pennies you spend, would you give up the convenience of a dishwasher? Never! That's exactly the way over 130,000 pool owners feel about their Pool-Sweep automatic pool cleaner today.

Programmed to work day or night.
Just the flick of a switch puts your Pool-Sweep automatic pool cleaner to work. Day or night. You can install a fully automatic timer to turn your Pool-Sweep on and off. So it can be set to work even while you're vacationing away from home. And you'll always come home to a sparkling clean pool.

It really adds up. All the tiresome hours you spend each year hand-scrubbing, hand-sweeping and vacuuming your pool. If you're like most pool owners, this can add up to over three weeks' worth of hard work. Time you could well spend relaxing and enjoying your pool. That's what it's for!

Teaching years over, Brickley Paradise-bound

PLEASANTON - A teaching career that started on the athletic fields of Ohio and spans 31 years will come to a conclusion next month at Pleasanton Elementary School.

For Carl Brickley, bowing out will mean a reception at Castlewood ("Some of my buddies have some things planned and I'm not really sure what they're going to do!) at the end of this month and then a move to Paradise, between Oroville and Chico.

Talking with Brickley is tantamount to reviewing a sizable chunk of Pleasanton Elementary's history. After 10 years coaching and teaching at four high schools in Ohio, Brickley came west for good after a two-and-one-half year stint with the Air Force at Camp Parks.

Like so many thousands of others, Brickley liked what he saw while "passing through" and came back to stay.

He taught a self-contained class at the seventh grade level, then took the physical education program for the next seven years. Brickley also worked with the boys' club organized at that time.

In his years at Pleasanton Elementary, the original school "on the hill," Brickley came to teach and know hundreds upon hundreds of students who went on to be responsible, contributing members of the community.

While reticent to name a few and possibly overlook former students, current superintendent of recreation for the City of Pleasanton, Mike Burke, a fine athlete who played part of last year with the Los Angeles Rams, Jimmy Fields, now teaching at Harvest Park, Maryanne Lamm, also at Harvest Park, Gary Fiorio, now at Dublin, and Joanne Caporusso, a teacher at Walnut Grove. There are so many others, starting with those coaching days in Ohio and continuing right up to the present day. There will be those who will look back some day and remember the encouragement and direction they got from this short-in-stature but fast-moving and responsive man.

Brickley's paramount goal for his students is wrapped up nicely in a saying he has, "I don't care what you want to be, even if it's a ditchdigger, be the best there is."

When he first came to Pleasanton Elementary, he taught in Room 6 and their were two eighth grade classes and two seventh grades. Take in mind this was about 1954, some 10 years before the population started to explode out toward Highway 580 and the hills. Now there are ten 8's and ten 7's.

Brickley characterizes the progression in curriculum as being "more open space in nature.In the 50s and early 60s, their was a much more traditional, more fundamental approach to education.

Brickley now sees parts of 10 classes each day. He and math teaching partner Bill McNally have a special program they refer to as "back-to-back." They do extensive testing at the outset of the term so that students may be grouped homogeneously, from average to high. In this program, Brickley will teach the high average one day and the low average the next. McNally's schedule interlocks with Brickley. It is basically a team-teaching situation.

When he first came into the district, being hired by the late Jack Mann, Don Eddy was superintendent and the late Tom Hart was an eighth grade teacher at the time. Among those in the district then were Olive Hanifen, Ione Arnold, Inez Griffith (who will also be retiring come next month) and Bob Scruggs.

Brickley and his wife, Vondale, plan to move to a mobile home park in Paradise this summer where they'll be close to a married daughter, Sandra Needles (an assistant at the child development center at Chico State) and within easy range of some trout fishing streams. They are also hikers and plan occassional jaunts in the Sierras from their cabin near Calaveras Big Trees.

But for the very immediate future, Carl would sure like to know what some of his buddies have up their sleeve for that retirement party at Castlewood!

LIVERMORE - Mrs. Sharon Finan's second - grade class at Jackson Avenue School will present a public performance of the musical, "The Wizard of Oz," Thursday, May 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the multi - purpose room.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

This is the eighth year in which Mrs. Finan, a singer well known to local and Bay Area audiences, has adapted a children's classic show to an elementary - school format, and worked with dozens of children and parents to produce an enjoyable and educational effort.

Every child who wants to participate has a chance to perform either in a speaking role, as a chorus member, or in one of the fun parts as mice, trees, winged monkeys and other fantastic Oz creatures.

Whole families get together for work on sets and costumes and there is always a "come one, come all" day of scenery painting.

Students learn many important skills while enjoying this extracurricular project, according to Mrs. Finan

"Careful enunciation, expressive reading, memorization, choral singing and rhythm, and the general benefits of cooperation, patience and teamwork toward a joint effort are some of the things seven - year - olds can learn from a production like this," the teacher observes.

Other "stars" are: Kim Winegarner, Queen of the Field Mice; Lorri Gilbert, Aunt Em; Jeff Peters, Uncle Henry; Christy Fisher, Guardian of the Gate. The five forms of the Wizard of Oz are portrayed by: Chris Lower, the Beast; Christina Cavanna, the Beautiful Lady; Rodney Reno, the Old Man; Patti McCraw, the Head and the Ball of Fire.

McCarthy names Mori to EDC commission

PLEASANTON - Assemblyman Floyd Mori has been named to the Commission for Economic Development by Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy.

The commission serves as an advisory group to determine ways of improving the economic development of California, including the promotion of business and industry.

Mori said he was "quite pleased to be named to this important commission. With California's current economic situation, it is vital that industry and business be encouraged to come to California."

He added, "When 10 percent of the work force is unemployed, the clear priority for government is the creation of jobs. Because the commission for Economic Development can cover such a wide range of business activities — from aerospace to manufacturing to tourism — the findings and recommendations can serve to bring more business, and especially more jobs, to California."

Pleasanton will reassess replacement fee policies

PLEASANTON - The plight of a citizen whose home was destroyed by fire and who was faced with having to pay 1975 fees for replacement prompted the city council to reassess its policy on fees Monday night.

Specifically, the council indicated as a policy matter, it will consider on a case by case basis a waiver of sewer and water connection fees for homes that are destroyed by a calamity.

Many homes in Pleasanton were built before any sewer or water connection fees were established and it has been city policy, City Manager Bill Edgar explained, to assess present day fees when those structures are rebuilt.

In the case of the Aldrige family, whose Second Street home (which was rented out at the time) was demolished by fire, the difference in fees amounts to nearly $1,500. No fees were paid on the house when it was originally built.

Edgar said the basic question is "whether we should be collecting the difference in sewer and water fees (between what was paid when the structure was built and what the present fees are) when there is a calamity."

Edgar added the city could work out a "waiver in hardship cases" but it would be difficult to administer. He suggested the council review such requests on a case by case basis.

Councilman Bill Herlihy agreed, saying he had a "problem with any kind of a blanket policy" because it would "open a Pandora's Box. I would like to review them on a case by case basis."

The council agreed with that policy and continued the Aldridge case for two weeks for a review.

NO MONEY FOR BUSES

Because the council could forsee no immediate source of revenue for an expanded city mini-bus system, they tabled further study on the matter until it becomes "more financially feasible."

Assistant City Manager Jim Walker had prepared a lengthy report on the possibilities for a city bus system and was seeking a decision from the council on whether the matter should be pursued at this time.

"I am reluctant to have you spend a lot of time on something that is not that feasible," Kinney said. Herlihy added, "It would be premature to start until we see the regional shopping center start, until we see some kind of revenue to support a system."

The council agreed to grant Morrison Homes an extension of time in which to pick up sewer permits although one citizen, Chuck Seymour, objected.

Morrison had asked for an extension to June 20 and City Attorney Ken Scheidig said that, under the terms of the court-ordered Morrison Homes settlement, the city "really doesn't have a choice."

The council agreed and also reiterated the fact that when the priority schedule for the 250 sewer permits was established, they had indicated time extensions for a "reasonable" period would be considered.

Seymour had said he did not believe Morrison Homes, "which didn't hesitate to sue the city", should be given any special consideration.

PRAYER CORNER

Mary Stormer, a Sycarmore Road resident, urged the council to do something about installing a left turn lane at Sunol Boulevard and Sycamore Road.

She presented a petition containing 183 names urging action on that stretch and said she refers to that intersection as "my prayer corner."

City officials explained part of that road is outside the city limits but the city is working with the county to improve that stretch.

Stohr wins four in EBAL

Record-breaking performances were the rule rather than the exception at the Second Annual East Bay Athletic League Girls Championship Track Meet held at Amador Valley High School yesterday.

A total of 11 meet records fell while the girl athletes eclipsed another eight stadium records as the top four finishers in each event qualified for the North Coast Division II meet to be held May 22 at Campolindo High in Moraga.

Diana Stohr and her Granada teammates won nearly everything in sight but a couple of other competitors, notably Angie Clark of Amador and Michelle Fabian of California,stole some of the spotlight.

Stohr won four events and set stadium records in three of them and a meet record in the 220-yard dash, which she won in 27.3. Stohr easily outdistanced her teammate Rene Contratto to win the 440 in which she booked a 59.3 clocking, the first time she has dipped below the 60 second mark this season.

Stohr anchored both of the Mats victorious relay teams. In the 440 relay, Karen Roberts, Jill Eyler, Kathy Honour and Stohr teamed up for a 51.4 clocking to easily outdistance Sn Ramon.

In the day's final event, that same Matador foursome set another stadium record as they won the 880 sprint medley relay in a fleet 155.5.

Clark and Fabian won a pair of events each as they prevented total domination by the Granada girls.

After a slow start, Clark overtook Monte Vista's Corrine Oldroyd and the Mats Honour midway through their 80-yard low hurdle race and hung on to win in 11.8. Although she did not equal the record-breaking performance a year ago Clark easily won the high jump competition with a leap of 4-10.

The Grizzlies sophomore sensation, Fabian,surprised everyone by winnig the 100-yard dash in 12.0, good enough for a league record. She later returned to win the 880 in 2:27.1.

Fabian's time in the 880 could have been much lower, perhaps as low as 2:24, but she mistakenly stopped 10 yards short of the finish line before walking in 2/10 of a second ahead of Granada's Karen Daley.

Honour turned in perhaps the day's most outstanding performance with a leap of 17-9½ in the long jump to shatter her previous stadium record of 16-8½.

San Ramon's lone victor was Lisa Bee who won her specialty, the discus, with a toss of 120 feet. Amador's Julie Fleenor was second with a toss of 104 feet.

Spent nines face finale

The EBAL pennant race has come down to the tape, but neither entrant has saved anything for a finishing kick.

Livermore High, one-half game behind Monte Vista in league standings, will attempt to overtake the Mustangs today at 3:30 at home.

Both teams are expected to go with second line pitchers, having burned up aces in vital games Tuesday.

For Livermore, John Janzen is the likely choice, for the Mustangs, Don Blessen.

If the Mustangs win, they will cinch their first ever EBAL pennant. Should the Cowboys persevere, it will touch off a frantic post-season series.

First Monte Vista would have to replay an early season tie with Dublin that carried on for 18 innings. If the Mustangs were to win that, they would wind up in a title tie with the Cowboys.

That would necessitate a one-game championship playoff.

Those games would be played Monday and Tuesday

On Thursday, the EBAL pennant winner opens play in the North Coast Section championships at St. Mary 's College.

All of the extra-curricular activity will put a strain on the pitching staffs, already taxed by the tight pennant race.

Livermore was forced to throw its ace right hander Keith Richardson in a must-win situation at Granada Tuesday. It was felt he would wait for today's pennant decider, but coach Kevin Drake talked down that idea.

"It's been my experience that if you wait, you wind up with nothing to wait for," Drake said.

Nevertheless, Richardson will be available for bullpen duty.

Janzen last pitched April 25 in a win over Dublin. He worked flawlessly for more than four innings, but required late-inning assistance from Richardson.

Dwindling Ballistics face Regional play

Saddled with attrition problems, Ballistic United is nevertheless favored to win its key Western Regional soccer battle tomorrow at Robinswood Park near Seattle.

The under-14 United team faces the CWA Oilers of Seattle at Bellevue Community College.

The winner plays for the Western Regional championship May 31. Ballistic will play that game in the Bay Area should it slide by the Oilers.

Coach Bob Stewart's team appears stronger, though the roster has been pared to 13 players. Most recent loss was starting inside Troy Thomas, who broke a leg in practice. Baseball season has also played havoc with United's roster.

In other critical Western Regional action tomorrow, Ballistic United under-12 will face D.J. Federal Way of Seattle in a 12:30 game in Bellevue.

Coach Harry Miller will rely on the strong defense of Ed Kinyon, Brian Corcoran, Craig Spitzer and Darren Hicks. Scott Wilcox and Mari Harri will handle the goal tending.

In Livermore, the Livermore Neutrons will face Oregon in an under-19 Regional battle. That contest gets under way at 3 p.m. at Robertson Park Stadium.

The Neutrons are led by scorers Dan Payne and Joe Masquelier.

Stewart's United team could be in for a close battle with the Oilers. The Seattle side has tied games with the Dublin Colts and Sequoia Eagles this season, two of California's tougher teams. Each of those sides claims one victory over Ballistic.

Stewart's good offense will feature insides Mark Fish and Dennis Miller, and wingers Kirk Ackerman and Scott Wise.

Team captain Kevin Crow anchors the midfield.

United is 43-5-3 for the season. It has not played the Oilers this season.

Four booters to tour England

Four Tri-Valley players are on the California Youth Soccer Association under-14 all-star team that will tour England for one month this summer.

Pleasanton's Kevin Crow and Bret Bevilaqua are on the select unit, along with David Alvarez of Dublin, and Robert Jamieson, Livermore.

The Stars will leave for England Aug. 13 and return Sept. 9.

A fund raising dance will be held at St. John's Cathedral Hall in Fresno May 17. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 447-7132.

Groups or inviduals wishing to contribute to the All-Stars to defray costs of the trip can call 447-7132, or 846-2521, or stop in Pleasanton at Amador Sports and Hobby Shop, or Hopyard Liquors.

Net club tourney tomorrow

Five flights will be run beginning at 8 a.m.

Baranis wins 7-4

Dennis Higgins' two-run double highlighted a five-run fifth inning for Baranis Construction Wednesday night, and led to a 7-4 victory over Parker Research in Livermore slow pitch softball.

Robin Green's single and a sacrifice fly by Tom Wilson were the other big blows in the decisive rally. Wilson knocked in a first-inning run with another sacrifice fly ball.

Ken Shelton and Pete Jacobs drove in runs as Parker Research rallied briefly for two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning.

The Scribes beat Cal Canners, 9-1, scoring six runs in the second inning. Zane Thomas shut out the Canners until the seventh inning.

Dave Mello and Bob Cooper lashed run-scoring singles in the big Scribe rally.

Truckin outlasted Allied Brokers, 14-10, thanks to the offensive punch of leadoff hitter Doug Thomas. He reached base four times and scored three runs. Ken McClure had two RBI's with a triple.

The Elks won with three runs in the top of the fifth and final inning.

In the farm league, Red Carpet nosed out Jersey Crown, 8-7. Mike Glover and Todd Varney homered for the winners. Jersey's Andy Baxter also homered.

Environmental cause or personal pique?

There is no doubt that all of Pleasanton would be served by a proper extension of W. Las Positas Boulevard from east to west, including a crossing of Interstate 680.

It is also clear that this city must take advantage of the opportunity now available to complete the Stoneridge Drive extension, to include an overcrossing of that same freeway.

But to threaten the Stoneridge project, in order to "force" the W. Las Positas overcrossing, under the guise of registering "the public's environmental concern" is an abuse that could destroy both those additions. It might also contribute to the early demise of the peoples' right to speak directly to matters of environmental interest.

The Stoneridge overcrossing is an item of such urgency, and its financing so opportune, that it generates virtually no legitimate opposition — not even from those two or three citizens who now "threaten" to force that project into a long and costly "environmental impact study." What these detractors want is NOT to question or stop the Stoneridge project, but rather to coerce the council into somehow providing a second overcrossing at Las Positas. They are saying in effect, "If we can't have what we want, then you won't get what everyone needs."

That is fuzzy thinking. It is also an abuse of the whole environmental review process that could lead to widespread resentment, and ultimately new legislation, to weaken or destroy the public's access to this regress. (A parallel situation exists in the widening of Interstate 580 through Dublin Canyon, a major job that was allowed to go through all the stated environmental reports and reviews before the Sierra Club launched a carefully-timed "environmental protest" desired not to restudy the freeway's merits, but rather to thwart the whole project at a critical moment of federal financing.)

If we have legitimate concerns for the impact that some project might have on our community, then we should say so — and that is what the environmental review process provides. If we think some other project deserves equal or higher priority on the city's roster, then we should be prepared to fight for just that. But to use the environmental appeal process as a political gimmick aimed at "showing up the establishment" is to make a mockery of the peoples' responsibility in the whole governmental process. And that is too high a price to pay, for any freeway overcrossing.

"There! He did it again! Next we'll teach him to deliver mail."

Letters to the Editor

Allen's view of BART

Editor, The Times:

A recently published letter seeks BART commute hour bus service via I-580 and Vasco Road to East Avenue. That route was one of several alternatives studied recently. The selected route appears better for several reasons:

(1) An I-580-Vasco route would serve only those commuting between Bayfair, Dublin, and LLL/Sandia.

(2) The UL route via Portola-Murrieta - 4th Street-East Avenue serves that purpose nearly as well, and serves a substantial portion of Livermore as well.

(3) Even though the UL bus is not allowed to serve Livermore residents working at LLL/Sandiax it allows Pleasanton connections with a U line transfer at Stanley and Murrieta.

BART's main purpose is to provide rapid inter-community transit. Most areas in the three BART counties such as within the AC Transit District pay additional local transit taxes for this service. BART's feeder buses are no substitute for modern rail transit. They do, however, tie our communities well to one another, to BART, and to the entire three county area.

The BART District is supporting the Express Bus Program at an annual cost of approximately $2 million. I believe that the Livermore Valley is now getting real benefits for our investment in BART.

Robert S. Allen
Director, Bay Area Rapid Transit District

Senator Cranston on Viets

Editor, The Times:

I would like to address the following "open letter" to all Californians:

Though I fully understand the initial economic concern that some people expressed about the refugees arriving in America, I believe I reflected the feelings of the overwhelming majority of Californians when I asked Senator James Allen of Alabama to join me in introducing the following resolution in the United States Senate:

"Whereas, ours is a nation of immigrants and descendants of immigrants, many of whom fled from tyranny and bloodshed in their native lands where they were scorned, hated and hunted, and

"Whereas, they came here because they knew they could find in America safety, freedom and opportunity, and

"Whereas, they found all those things and more, for they also found America to be a land of compassion as well as affluence, magnanimity as well as wealth, and

"Whereas, Americans welcomes these fellow, less fortunate human beings not only for their sake but for our own, knowing that they strengthened our national vitality, constantly renewing the diversity and richness of our lives and the pluralism and dynamism of our society, and

"Whereas, this periodic influx of refugees and exiles can serve to keep us humble, saving us from the sins of arrogance, pride and self-righteousness by reminding us of our origins, of the misery that abounds elsewhere in the world, and of the destiny that may also befall us should we betray our heritage, now therefore

"Be it resolved that the Senate reaffirms that the Statue of Liberty is, as Emma Lazarus called her, the Mother of Exiles; that the Senate reaffirms that the lesson of the parable of the Good Samaritan lives on in the minds and hearts of the American people and is a part of their character; and that the Senate welcomes warmly the latest exiles to our shores — the refugees from South Vietnam and Cambodia."

I also believe the Senate reflected the feelings of the overwhelming majority of Americans when it passed the above resolution, 91-1.

Senator Alan Cranston

Student self helpers

Editor, The Times:

Students from Livermore and Granada High Schools did an outstanding job raising money for the Student Education Loan Fund (SELF) during the annual membership drive held the evening of May 7, 1975.

Sixty-two students raised almost $1000 from the Livermore community. This money will be loaned to high school graduates to assist them in continuing their vocational or college educations.

President, SELF

FOCUS/ Fundamentalist

A school alternative

The Fundamentalist approach to education emphasizes basic academic skills in a quiet and orderly classroom, self-contained, and with all class activites teacher directed and supervised.

This concept is one of three that will be presented starting next fall at Walnut Grove School in Pleasanton, a K-5 school with an enrollment of about 900 students.

As this is being written, parents are mulling over three alternatives including Open Education, Fundamentalist and the current team teaching in open space (pod) method now in vogue.

Forms describing each concept and asking parents to indicate which one they want their children to be a part of went out Tuesday and are due back to Anthony Huff, principal at Walnut Grove, by May 22.

It is necessary that parents make a choice so that Huff and his teaching staff will be able to proceed with the logistics of room space, equipment and staffing.

In an article on this page Wednesday, we outlined Open Education. Today's column will dwell on plans for a Fundamentalist program as regards Walnut Grove. It is important to make the latter distinction as the programs at the Pleasanton school will not necessarily be like those being planned in other school districts . .. such as Livermore.

According to the six teachers and parents supporting the Fundamentalist program for Walnut Grove, the curriculum will follow a definite progression, building on skills and abilities acquired at each level. The program will have self-contained classrooms with one grade level per classroom. Important, critically important to this concept, is that all classes have walls ... which separates this concept from the pod and Open Education methods before we go any farther on any aspect of the discussion.

At appropriate levels, the instructional program will include reading, handwriting, spelling, composition, grammar, social studies, science, art and music. A sequential program of physical education skills will be offered, according to the brochure worked up by organizers of the Fundamentalist program.

They also state that homework will be given on a regular basis to encourage independent work and good study habits. "Students will be informed of what is expected of them, and when, in order to learn to fulfill their responsibilities. Teachers will have the responsibility for correcting students' work and following through on assignments."

Also, "student progress will be reported using the standard district report cards, supplemental reports will be sent home as necessary. At the beginning of the year, parents and students will be informed of the basis for grading.

"Fair and consistent methods of handling behavioral problems will be developed according to common sense guidelines established by the staff and parents. Students will be expected to strive for excellence in their academic work, to respect the staff, to show consideration for others, and to demonstrate good manners.

"It is imperative that the home provide positive support to the goals and philosophy of this program. parents must agree to support the above statements. A signature of support will be mandatory prior to a child's enrollment in this program."

From this statement, taken directly from the Fundamentalist brochure, it is obvious that some people would consider the tenets and atmosphere of such a program as quite repressive, stultifying and contrary to the current process of learning.

This may be true but for every "anti" comment I'm certain you would get at least one "pro" statement....at least in the Pleasanton area.

There are an awful lot of parents out in the suburbs, the tracts and subdivisions who have HAD IT with the "open space," pod or "let 'em do their own thing" type of approach to education. They may not speak up or say so but the feeling is there....it just needs someone to come forward, such as Connie Stroemer and other parents, and provide leadership.

We commend those parents and teachers who have done so. All of our children will be the benefactors in the long run.

— by AL FISCHER

round the town

Today is Friday, May 16, the 136th day of 1975. On this day in 1775 the first constitutional referendum was held. The Massachusetts delegation voted "nay."

So there were dissenters, even then. There were some who scored, also. It was on this exact day in 1770 that Marie Antoinette married King Louis XVI of France. She had quite a time of it, if memory serves us well.

On May 16, 1929, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences awarded its first Oscars. So okeh you Triviaists — WHO WON? Turn this page upside down to read the answer — Janet Gaynor and Emil Jannings. (Only right side up it would read — Emil Jannings and Janet Gaynor).

Henry Fonda is 70 years old today. Has had a busy life, as I recall. Just raising those kids of his would be more than enough challenge for any one man. Henry fooled 'em — he skipped over raising the kids, left that to the revolutionists. Jane thumps for causes; Peter just thumps. Great little family.

Henry beats the drums for Kodak cameras. On the tube. Poor devil is down to his last million exposures. He's also found time to take a one-man show stage show on the road. (Most of what the Fonda family does is very singular, if you have noticed.)

Henry's thing is Clarence Darrow. A very single-minded lawyer, from the old school. Henry is a natural for the role. Even at age 70. And with a pacer in his heart. Which proves that at least one member of the Fonda clan has a heart. (Jane has a bosom, but that's different. I think.)

* * *

One-man shows are the in-thing on stage these days. We saw Hal Holbrook do his "Mark Twain Tonight" a while back. Terrific! He's been doing that show for 21 years. Knows a dozen different scripts by heart. Interchanges the lines and thoughts as he moves along.

Twain — or Samuel Clemens, if you prefer — was something of a revolutionary in his own day. Liked to rap the establishment. No matter how high. "The only time the clergy errs is in rendering judgments on matters of religion." Or so Holbrook tells us. He had a packed Paramount Theater crowd rolling in the aisles. Most of the audience was udner 35, with hair to match. Not a bit like the usual Paramount throng for the symphony series.

The college revolutionaries of the sixties have turned back the calendar in their quest for a new leader. Now, instead of Mario Savio mouthing unclean words, it's Mark Twain bad-mouthing the establishment "Send the dive bombers in and gas 'em out," Governor Ron declared. And the unruly students were finally put down.)

Nobody put down Mark Twain, alias Hal Holbrook. Young and old, they leaned on every naughty line, roared at each irreverent phrase. Those of us with silver strands, or none at all, laughed because we identified with Huck Finn's rebellion against a tough old Aunt. The younger portion of that audience identified not with Huck, or even Twain, but with Clemens himself. A revolutionary in his own time, a leader to inspire a good fight even 50 years later, and from the stage of a downtown Oakland theater.

* * *

We have tickets for "Give 'Em Hell, Harry." A few warm pages from the life of Harry S. Truman, if you hadn't already guessed. James Whitmore does this one-man show. It's been sold out for weeks. President Ford went to two performances in Washington. The Democrats accused Jerry of "trying to latch on to Harry Truman's great popularity."

We can recall when Harry Truman was rated as little more than a music critic, and a poor one at that. He didn't improve his image much with that atomic bomb barrage. Or firing Douglas MacArtmur. There was talk of stringing up poor old Harry, then. Today he's an American hero.

Whitmore's show has been packing 'em in, wherever he plays. They say "Give "Em Hell Harry" could run forever, or as long as the one-man cast holds up. People are in a mood to give somebody hell. You get jailed for throwing rocks at the man from IRS. Go on television and say things about The Man and the FCC cuts off your show, a la Smothers Brothers. But mount the stage and word the jibes of a Truman, a Twain or a Rogers, and the people roar along with you, paying $8.50 per for the privilege.

Two hundred years ago today, the Hannastown Resolution was passed in Pennsylvania. Local patriots declared it was the duty of every American to resist the English oppression."

They had their kicks. We need ours. If the Bicentennial people really wanted us to learn our history lesson, they would provide half of us with Daniel Boone muskets, the other half with British rifles. Provide us with real powder and shot. Leave us have at it.

Give us something to do, now that there's no Dick, or Ron, or Mario to kick around anymore. At $8.50 a pop we can't afford to keep following the ghosts of Harry or Mark or Will. Besides, most Americans would rather participate than watch. That's why the first revolution is recalled with such reverence, 200 years later. Everybody got into the act, then; and for a helluva lot less than $17 a pair.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Nothing has changed much now that the furor and hubbub has gone and the place has settled down into an almost humble routine.

From the porch of the Sunol Valley Golf course a person can see the hump backed crest of Apperson Ridge rising high above Flag Mountain and farther along the edge of Calaveras Canyon Maguire Peaks are clearly visible but nowhere near as sexy as they appear to a man driving south from San Ramon along Interstate 680.

The members of the women's club, those durable and loyal lassies who managed to survive closings, chaos and the strident, discordant and often obscene voice of Tony Romano, playing golf as though nothing had happened week after week, ignoring lawsuits, headlines and burned out greens in the pursuit of their pastime.

There are some changes, of course. One of the most notable is the presence of Marge Ivaldi Russell behind the starter's desk, beautiful, bright and perhaps the most intensely loyal person I have ever known in my life.

Her downright adoration of her father, Frank Ivaldi, and her devotion to the success of the big Sunol layout which was floundering so badly a year ago should be a source of inspiration to everyone who comes in contact with her.

Add to that her considerable beauty and her flawless appearance and Sunol has an asset it never knew before.

Marge is not the only member of the family working a seven day week. Sunol may well be the home base of a man who has to be the wealthiest greenskeeper in the golf business, if anyone thinks of golf as a business and certainly Ivaldi does these days.

I couldn't find Frank Tuesday when I drove out to Sunol to see how the place was doing now that the scandals which rocked the place a year ago had settled down and dust of discord cleared.

He was there of course, hidden in one of the many crevices and canyons which add a unique and sometimes surprising beauty to the course I came to love so well through the years when it was headed steadfastly toward financial disaster.

Perhaps Frank is doing now what he should have in 1968 when Sunol Valley openedHh fanfare, hubbub and a considerable excess of employes.

For the most part Sunol is a family venture today. Frank is devoting almost all his time — and seven days a week — to the course.

He drives his El Camino pickup over the layout, supervising maintenance of greens and fairways and working, as has always been his habit, with shovel, pick and hoe beside his employes.

Danny Russell, the lad who wandered into Sunol almost half a dozen years ago, took a job as a starter, served his time as an apprentice under Lyle Wehrman, married the beauteous Marge and earned his status as a journeyman, is the head professional.

He is, of course, part of the family, a vital cog in the close knit machine Frank has welded since he managed to route Romafo from the premises and regain control of the place which was the product of his dreams as a young man.

There has, perhaps, been no man in Alameda County more poorly used by his associates than Ivaldi, but at 60 years and with a bitter lesson learned his mind is as resilant and his will as spring steel strong as it was four decades ago when he started the long climb to the top of the aggregate and construction business in Alameda County.

He has, in the words of football coaches who have absorbed one hell of a beating while watching their players make sloppy tackles and worse blocks, returned to basics.

The pro shop, bare as Yul Brynner's head a year ago, is stocked once again, not as lavishly as it once was when Lyle was running the show, but Danny is adding to his stock daily and the return of the old days is in sight.

The doors to the pro shop, which once opened to the west and out toward the ninth green, have been blocked shut with display cases and a new one cut to the south so that approaching golfers do not have to round the bend from the parking lot to enter.

There is the familiar rattle of dice in the golf bar and the quiet murmer of conversation where the ladies of the women's club play their inevitable game of bridge following a round of golf.

The snack bar is open, the menu nowhere near as lavish as it was in the old days when John Pappas was running the show, but it is practical and serves the purpose for hungry golfers.

Upstairs the beautiful Mediterranean bar and restaurant are silent and still, waiting for a happier day when Sunol is once again operating on all cylinders, the garish taste of Romano apparent in the rug he had laid a year ago and on the walls of the VIP room where he held court with his coterie of union officials, henchmen and onetime enforcers for Mafia Dons.

There are times, of course, when the big Coronado room, where big bands once played while Reed Porter reached for yesterday, is teaming with life.

The big bands are gone, but the place serves well for wedding receptions and other social functions of considerable size.

A small party would rattle around in that big room. I remember a day not too long ago when some 500 of us gathered there to eat and pay tribute to the late Carlos Bee.

There are a lot of memories there, a nostalgia born in the days when it seemed Sunol must be prospering but when the dollars paid out always exceeded those coming in.

Perhaps that is over now. A man has a feeling, watching Ivaldi and his heirs, that raw guts and courage may revive his dream, that the courage of a family that had to come back may give it life and vitality.

I, for one, hope fervently that will one day happen.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Hard Luck Joe won the diamond lead and wasted no time with the next couple of plays. They were a trump to dummy and a club back toward his hand.

East played low and after a little thought Joe played his jack of clubs. West plunked on the queen and shifted to a trump. This left Joe with three clubs in his hand and only two trumps in dummy to ruff them with and he wound up in his usual spot — the ash can.

"Drat, darn and deleted," muttered Joe. "Both club honors wrong and West had to lead a trump. I'd play backgammon only my luck would probably be just as bad at that game."

If West's opening lead had been a trump, instead of a diamond, Joe would have been entitled to complain. That would have been real hard luck. After the diamond opening, Joe had no one to blame but himself. He should have led a low club from his hand at trick two. After that play there would have been no way for the defense to get in two rounds of trumps; Joe would get to ruff his last three clubs in dummy and the sun would shine.

$13.9 budget gets look by trustees

A $13.9 million preliminary budget for 1975 - 1976 and salary proposals from both faculty and non - teaching personnel have been taken under consideration by trustees of the South County Community College District.

Trustees are scheduled to discuss the budget and salary proposals at their meeting May 20.

Supt. Reed L. Buffington told the board the budget anticipates an increase of 500 ADA (Average Daily Attendance) and an estimated six per cent hike in assessed valuation. A tax rate increase of approximately three cents would be required to finance the budget. The current tax rate is 67.2 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Milton Tanner, spokesman for the faculty, presented the salary proposal developed jointly by the American Federation of Teachers, California Teachers' Association, and Faculty Senate at the College. The proposal calls for:

- A salary adjustmnt to compensate for the cost of living increase for the period from April 1, 1974, to March 31, 1975 — an increase of 12.1 per cent.
- A salary adjustment of 6.7 per cent to bring about equity in the certificated salary structure at the College.

Sorry, Pinto, Vega, Gremlin, VW, but you don't match these "standards."

And still, Toyota is the lowest sticker priced car in California*

We Toyota dealers don't stint on the standard equipment, even on the lowest priced car in our line, the Corolla 1600 2-door sedan. We figure that an economy car of the Nineteen Seventies shouldn't be as spartan as a "Flivver" of the Nineteen Twenties.

Sure, you can buy a Vega, Gremlin, Pinto or other economy cars with most of the standard features of our little Corolla. But you'll pay extra for those features. If you want the big buy in small cars, see your local Toyota Dealer, the "small car specialist."

PLAZA BOOKS-Pleasanton had an anniversary and part of the festivities was a contest for a 12" Panasonic TV set. The lovely winner turned out to be Billie Carlson, un upcoming 1975 graduate of Amador High School, who lives at 1686 Loganberry in Pleasanton. Kitsy Godfrey, store owner who knows her books, looks volumes of pleasure while making the presentatiom. PLAZA BOOKS, for the very few who might not know, is very conveniently located in PLEASANT PLAZA on First Street.

DENNIS KAHLER, owner of the IMPORT SHOP-Dublin has moved his foreign car repair business from 6384 Scariett Court to 6392 Scarlett Court. Not much of a move in distance, but Dennis claims he needed more elbow room — for work, that is.

ASSEMBLYMAN S. FLOYD MORI will be the guest speaker at the Dublin Chamber of Commerce luncheon which will be held at noon, Wednesday, May 21 at the Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge.

BANK OF AMERICA-Livermore, under the aloha auspices of that Honolulu-oriented management of Bill Manis, is going all out in costuming for the big HAWAII DAYS promotion now in full swing in Livermore. Shown above are Karen Fernandez, Jewel Ashworth, Nancy Tejada, Nancy Sachau, Tina Lembesis and the boss all decked out to greet customers every Monday and Friday. I don't know if B of A is financing any little grass shacks you-know-where, but it certainly would be worth your while to catch a glimpse of this colorful crew on duty.

BILL FOSTER, STATE FARM INSURANCE-Dublin has just returned from a week's vacation in London. Did you know the travelled gent is going to be the Emcee for the "Dublin Day Talent Show" at the County Fair on Friday, July 11?

MR. & MRS BILL LYNCH, PLEASANTON ART & FRAME SHOP have moved their place of business from 520 Main Street onto the 'balcony' of 641 Main. Mrs. Lynch informed me they call it a 'mezzanine' but for us oldtimers that particular building will always be a theatre. Did you know that behind all the changes and alterations of the building over the years is the original proscenium arch and the full stage of the old Plaza Theatre? Right now the Lynchs wish you to know they've moved. More about that theatre at a later date.

A desolate landscape?

No this is not the lunar surface but is actually something much more down to earth — the ultimate closeup of a single whisker on a human cheek. CC housing authority learns subsidy is ending

By DIANE DANIEL
Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ—Another curve is being thrown at the thousands of Contra Costans already out of work and out of unemployment benefits.

Now the Contra Costa Housing Authority has learned from the federal office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) that there will be no additional subsidized housing.

This means no new building in the near future and no re-allocation of existing units when vacancies arise or leases expire.

"It really is a very, very sad situation and it will create a desperate situation for these people who need help," said Edward Richmond, chief of leasing for the authority, addressing the problems of the persons occupying 1,800 units and the more than 3,500 families on waiting lists forthese homes in the county.

"Many people affected by this are elderly who have no other place to go and who are already paying a major portion of their old age secuirity for rent," he continued.

"It is incomprehensible with the employment problems and with people who have never had to apply for subsidized housing in the having to come to use, that HUD would do this," Richmond said at his Martinez office.

"The thing we are really troubled about is that in the interim period (between the end of the old section 23 program and the start of the new Section 8) we have no way to help anyone with a problem, no way to help people even though we have the money and could have the space," he said.

Part of the problem is the difficulties in communication with the HUD headquarters in Washington D.C.

As an example, the new program became law Jan. 1, but the Martinez housing office received its first word in the form of a notice dated May 1 and which arrived May 12.

"I've talked to the local HUD people and they say the new program will be implemented in the near future, but I have no idea of what that means," said Richmond.

The new program, he said, doesn't offer much of a solution to his way of thinking.

It places much of the burden on the individual property owner instead of on the housing authority, which is equipped to handle many of the problems.

Richmond said because of that, the new Section 8 makes it extremely difficult, if not impossible, to get financing to build subsidized housing.

"Section 8 changes the rules completely in terms of how people are housed. For instance, it says that the owner of new buildings must verify the prospective tenant's income and figure out how much the tenant will pay for rent, collect it and tend to all maintenance, negligence and abuse" he said.

In the case of existing units, the housing authority will retain part of these duties, but not all.

"It is taking the housing authorities out of housing. The role of our office and our role with tenants will be extremely minor," said the leasing division chief calling this an attempt by Congress to kill a tried and proven system that is well liked and replace it with a program no one knows anything about," he said.

Richmond added that there is no way of knowing the number of local families that will be hit by the ramifications of the new ruling this year.

"It is possible we could have a complete turn-over. We do not know," he said, adding that it is possible that many of the leases, whether they be for one, two or three years, could expire this year.

At this point, it appears to Richmond that the authority cannot renew or extend these leases.

In the meantime, Richmond encourages persons to write to their congressmen to press for a change in the subsidized housing program.

Sunday through Tuesday he will be among local housing authority officials lobbying for a change at the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials Conference in San Diego.

There are over 400 units in Concord, more than 100 in Brentwood and about 300 in Martinez.
